In the meantime, the chief purpose of Australian grand strategy should be to defer that decision for as long as possible.

Marines doesn't mean much in operational terms, but it's symbolic of Australia's early enlistment in a much more adversarial U.S.

That decision isn't necessarily irreversible, but since some initial design choices will need to be made soon to avoid a capability gap as the Collins Class is phased out, it seems likely to be decisive.

It would also demand a major overhaul of the administrative foundations of Australian defense policy, which is in a quite parlous state at present.

facing America's Asia-Pacific allies in an age of shifting strategic balances.

based on an evolutionary design upgrade to the Collins.

MondayDec192011 Q and A: Australian Defence by Raoul Heinrichs | Monday, December 19, 2011 |

For one thing, I have serious reservations about Washington's capacity to maintain primacy in the face of China's growing power, not least because the economic dynamics at the heart of Asia's strategic transformation seem more likely than not to continue over the long term.

Geopolitically, this should give Australia more room to move.

and capabilities should Australia invest in? Culturally, the Royal Australian Navy is an heir to
